The web service should allow read-only access to the bucket, so that only my instances will be able to read from the bucket. My question is - how can I achieve this? Is there a way to provide read-only access from EC2? I've looked at the IAM policies but I'm not sure how to do this. Thanks for any pointers in the right direction. A: You should be able to use IAM policies. You need to authorize access to the resources and grant the relevant permissions. If you don't have S3 access you can use a SAM policy to
