the case management philosophy and policy; provides an overview of the systems-based literature; and describes the analysis and development of the policy using a stakeholder engagement approach. There are differences in the philosophy and the practice of case management, resulting in a wide range of service and resource configurations. Case managers in resource-constrained settings need to pay attention to changes in the policy and financial environment. Case managers need to advocate for the development of case management-related systems and programs. The policy was co-developed by a wide range of stakeholders including consumers, case management workers, and case management administration. There are substantive differences in the philosophy and practice of case management between North America and South Africa.
