A: Since this is tagged as Win8.1 here, I see no reason for that restriction. I get this to work just fine on Win8.1... The big advantage of the download is that it includes a standalone EXE. If it's a program that needs an earlier version of Visual Foxpro, you can check out your download list and see if they have posted a newer version. If you do find a newer version, then you can download the program and get it to run just fine. Just be sure that the version of visual foxpro they are referring to is the same as the one that you have. UPDATE: From a quick check of the visual foxpro download page it looks like the latest version that you can download is 6.00 (32 bit). See the question visual foxpro 6.0 free download full version Todd Kortmeyer With an unbelievable four-year starter and multiple top recruiting programs to his credit, Kentucky's James Young is the first official addition to the 2016 National Championship Odds Board. Chris Calipari, John Calipari and Luke Williams' UK basketball program is the last line of defense for the team that's gone a perfect 32-0 to win three of the past four NCAA titles. The Wildcats have also won five SEC titles and appeared in 13 consecutive Final Fours. In a rivalry like the one between UK and UConn, you know that the games will always be intense and that the legend of the success will spread from town to town. While the iconic names of the Huskies stand as familiar faces, it's clear that Young has made a name for himself as a true leader in the UK program. The senior point guard's presence alone should be enough to make Kentucky a prohibitive favorite. Young is third in the nation in assists with 9.3 per game. He's led the Wildcats to the NCAA Tournament in four consecutive seasons and has contributed in big moments. One of the bigger contributions came on Feb. 11, 2014, when the Wildcats put up 83 points against Alabama to win 84-83. Young ended the game with 12 points, eight assists, five rebounds and three steals. It was the biggest lead of the game that the home team didn't lose. His stats look even better when you realize that in the six losses the Wildcats have had this season, 54b84cb42d
