

----- PASSyourself Office Outlook is a powerful and easy to use piece of software that provides you with the possibility to view and modify passwords for all of your email accounts. PASSyourself - Office Outlook supports all versions of Microsoft Office Outlook. Do you have the feeling, storing them underneath your computer isn't the right way to manage your passwords? PASSyourself definitely will help you. If you have forgotten your password, wish to have new passwords or change them, PASSyourself is THE easy solution. Vickysueby Administratoron 7/5/2015 Like its bigger brother.... I downloaded the free version of this version of PASSyourself for a coworker to use. It runs in the background, is free, and to be honest, its almost as good as the full version of the bigger version. We will be transitioning our passwords to this program starting in the near future. It was easy to add my accounts. I was a little leery at first as it was downloading and installing a.exe, but after I opened it up, I was like "Oh my!" The interface is sleek and easy to follow, and the description and instruction are clear. You can also have several accounts open at once and it keeps them on separate tabs, so that they don't clash on screen. The account list is quite extensive, with most major networks, email accounts, domain names, and free email accounts too. It is also nice that if you are logged into your Outlook program, it displays a notification when there is a change in any password. I like that. I was a little leery at first with how it would work if you had multiple accounts open at once, but it is able to keep track of each one, so that is a bonus. My only complaint is that you have to re-enter passwords, and it does not appear to be stored, so you have to set them all up all over again. This was a bummer for me, but I guess its just a minor complaint. It works the same, and I have seen other reviewers complain about that too. I would recommend this software to anyone wanting to manage their passwords. Thanks for the review Vickysue! MPObozemanby Administratoron 7/5/2015 Like its bigger brother.... What's New In?

In the beginning you need to create a new Microsoft Office account (using your username and a temporary password). Then you can choose the email account you wish to edit the password for. After that you simply enter the password you want and confirm it by typing it in again. Finally you have to verify your new password by clicking on the button "Remember Password". If you are logged in with your other Microsoft account (e.g. Hotmail) and wish to change your password for that account, you can enter your new password on the PASSyourself homepage and then click on the button "Change Password". Have a look at our testimonials and see for yourself what our clients say about our software.
