Online Montage is a very easy and entertaining video editing tool that you can use to make cool video montages and animated flash. Get Online Montage Now and start making video montages! Use social media for free (and learn what works best for you) Online video has been around for years, but it's never been more popular than it is right now. The line between social and digital media has become much more blurry, as thousands of users post video clips to their social media accounts, and the only way to find them is by searching social media with a search engine. When you search social media for things that have happened on your account, you'll find things like tweets and Facebook messages, as well as things like photos or videos. This goes to show that social media platforms are not just for making social connections; they're also extremely powerful tools for making marketing happen. Social media is essentially a form of advertising that anyone can participate in, and you have to provide your information in order for someone to connect with you. You can expect that once you have gained a following, brands will start paying attention to you and contact you about working with them. Once you've done some video content marketing for yourself, you'll find it easier to have someone approach you and offer a paid job or exposure. With all that being said, there are certain things that go into making sure your video content works. One of those things is starting on a free platform. Boost your social media presence The first step to making sure that your video content is effective is having a social media presence. If you have a Facebook or Twitter account, then you should invest time into boosting your social media presence. The reason for this is that even if you have a ton of content online, the internet is still an interactive space. When a follower of yours shares that video or photo with her friends, they could also be sharing that content with their friends as well. If you have already created video content for your social media platforms, then you can use something like Popcorn Time to decide on a few things to work on. For example, you can decide that you want to cut your video content into 60-second and 30-second formats. To do this, you can take your full video content and then use something like Movie Maker on Popcorn Time to split your video into shorter formats. The other thing you can do is decide on a general theme or topic for your content. Once you
