"It's like the Chinese economy, or the Soviet economy, where the government totally controls the money, the printing, and it's a closed system. You're not allowed to do anything outside of it. And that's what Facebook is," Diller said on "Squawk Box." Diller's comments are the latest in a growing chorus of criticism of Facebook's business model. Facebook had about 1.3 billion daily active users around the world at the end of the second quarter of 2018, a figure that has more than doubled since the start of 2010. While Facebook has its critics, it is also one of the most valuable companies in the world, with a market cap of $505 billion. Upregulated intracellular PKC isozymes in interleukin-2-induced murine T cells correlate with decreased membrane Ca²⁺ stores. We examined the intracellular regulation of protein kinase C (PKC) and its correlation with the regulation of Ca²⁺ stores in interleukin-2 (IL-2)-induced murine T cells. Using a fluorescent calcium probe (fura-2) we demonstrated that IL-2 down-regulated the Ca²⁺ stores in these cells. We also 4bc0debe42
