"We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory will swell when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature." In 1862, President Lincoln was informed of the liberation of thousands of African Americans from slavery in the Confederate states. Shortly after, he released his famous "pardon for all soldiers", a lenient gesture that helped restore US national unity. While he was not keen on equality for blacks, the abolition of slavery, or states' rights, he was a staunch supporter of the Union and its protection of the United States Constitution, a document to which we can all claim membership today. We
