Former UAW President's Staff Files EEOC Complaint DETROIT (WWJ) – A former UAW official is making allegations of discrimination and retaliation in a complaint filed against UAW President Gary Jones and the UAW. The complaint, filed by Sandra O'Connell, a former senior staff assistant to Jones, accuses Jones of discrimination, retaliation and a host of other claims. The complaint was made public by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission — the federal government's main employment discrimination agency. In doing so, the EEOC is providing O'Connell with legal protection from employers. The EEOC can't force the employer to change its policies or practices. O'Connell's complaint alleges the UAW barred her from a paid vacation in 2010 to "silence" her following an earlier lawsuit against Jones. Her complaint also alleges the UAW retaliated against her for filing an earlier lawsuit and refusing to sign a settlement agreement. The complaint also alleges she was denied a promotion because the U
