I have a csv file with a lot of 0s at the start. (I'm a windows user so I'm not used to zero at the start). I want to zero them all out to space. I tried doing it through the terminal by typing sed's/^0//' outfile but it did not work. A: Assuming you are using sed to zero out the space at the beginning of the lines, the below might work. sed -e '1s/^\(0\)/\1 /' outfile You can try, sed -e '1s/^\(0\)/\1 /' outfile Or, if you are using perl, it could be, perl -pe's/^\(0\)/\1 /' outfile (Both sed and perl come with the linux) A: sed -E's/^0//' the -E is a GNU extension. A: Try this simple command. sed -i -e's/^0// 1d6a3396d6

Weak Points There is not an open source version of the program. There is not an open source version of the program. Detailed Critiques The following are some of the critiques of the program provided by some of the users of the program. "I like that it allows me to make calls from just the second window (as opposed to entering the contact name twice.) I like the filter and favorite features, and the MSN accounts are saved in a list (which makes it easy to make multiple calls.) Unfortunately, there's no way to use a smartphone (Samsung SGH-i827, Opera Mini, etc.) to make calls. I found the single call per ID feature good when making several calls with MassMess, but not so good when you want to make multiple calls with just the SGH-i827. "I find the UI to be clunky, clumsy and inconsistent. It would benefit from a basic interface overhaul to make it more friendly and easy to use. If you like the multi-call/compare feature, I would recommend using the nChat version, which is also free. Otherwise, unless there is a real need for MassMess, I think it would be best to leave it in the bin." - February 14, 2010 "AFAIK there's no way to attach documents from the program to a mass message. So it may not be a good way to mass message skype-to-skype calls." - March 2, 2010 "I use the feature where you can make a call to many people at once. However, if I need to make a Skype-to-Skype call
