Microsoft convinced three notable commercial CAD software developers, including Wolf Dornseif, that the PC was ready to take the role of the mainframe computer. In March 1981, three developers were hired by Microsoft to write the first version of AutoCAD, which would run on Microsoft's MS-DOS operating system. The first commercially released version was AutoCAD 16, a DOS-only version of AutoCAD 15, the next major version release. The first version of AutoCAD that did not require DOS was AutoCAD 14 in February 1983. In February 1982, Bill Gates visited the new facility where the development of AutoCAD was being performed. He was impressed with what he saw and ordered a copy for his personal CAD tool collection. The new version of AutoCAD, AutoCAD 17, was released in July 1983. After the release, it was dubbed by Autodesk as the "autodoc" and the company started marketing the word "Autodesk" and its products under the slogan "A little of this, a little of that, makes all the difference" or "The whole is greater than the sum of its parts." Versions AutoCAD 16.0 was the first version to be released to the public as AutoCAD 17.0 in July 1983. Q: Excel VBA Run-time Error 13: Type mismatch in date format I have a code to convert CVS date in to YYYYMMDD format but when i run this code an error 13: Type mismatch in date format pops up. I found out that in some cases the application cannot convert into date format. for example, if I have a date with no spaces and apostrophe it will not be accepted. my code: Sub DateConverter() Dim T As Range Dim L As Range Dim y, M, D As Date Set T = Range("c3") Set L = Range("c11") 'Set y = T.Value 'Set M = L.Value 'Set D = y + M 'D = Format(D, "YYYYMMDD") With WorksheetFunction y = Round(T.Value, 0) M = Round(L.Value, 0) D = y + M D = Format(D, "YYYYMMDD") End With L = Cells(L.Row + 1, 3) L.NumberFormat = "dd/mm/yyyy" End Sub A: You need to do some more robust checking on the values in T and L. T = Range("c3").Value will raise an error if the value in that cell is Null. It also won't give you a date in the first place, because that's what you're trying to convert it to, and you've declared it to be a Date. Add some error handling to your code, check the contents of T and L and see if they are Null or are actually dates. Sub DateConverter() Dim T As Range, L As Range Dim y
