2011 Showcase · By the Numbers: The hours of day are in the clock. The hours of story are in your head. If there is still time to get to him, the body is in the bag. But time is a flat circle which has no beginning or end. –N.T. Wright, Who Is Jesus? What We Really Mean When We Talk About Jesus. Most Wikipedians are scared of using graphic tools to submit the text for Showcase 2011. Ideas more or less can be like a house with a view : they are not all beautiful, but they are a place to live. They are all you need. You can come and go as you please. So you should be glad that there are such places. (An excerpt from a speech by Regina Spektor on 9 September 2004 at the University of Michigan; see also her album What We're Still Here For) The concept of this edition of the Showcase is to provide strong stories by promising new and established writers in the science fiction and fantasy genres. ... The variety of creators in the 2011 edition of the Showcase will make it a great success. Looking at the long list of stories, I am still very happy that some of my co-editors are sticking with me! This year, we [the editors and authors] have selected a total of forty-two submissions. The final step before publication is a rigorous peer-review. I am so very proud to be one of the editors of this wonderful anthology. It is a source of great pride to me that I was chosen for this role, and I can't wait to read what you all come up with. I think you're going to love this anthology. . . . To celebrate the 35th Anniversary of a well-established science fiction magazine called Highlights for Wargame Weekly 09/28/2013 '63 was a good year for the Germans, but it was a frustrating year for Jim, as most of his first turns were "not good enough". Of course, this doesn't mean a lot - Jim is the greatest wargamer I've ever known, and I have never met a good one, but my point is to document that this was a shitty year for him. Anyhow, Jim had a fine first battle in his first game of '63, with a GER vs. POL (in this game, the Germans have full info about the enemy's units while the Poles have NO information). Our day was when units of French pioneers (Ulan Bator-based regiments) confronted our advancing Panzers. Jim would roll a 7 on the dice for an immediate hit. His cavalry forces dispersed and missed the Panzers, so Jim was forced to "bite the bullet" (thus, taking the worst roll out of the dice that would allow the Panzers to destroy the Ulan Borat. Still, Jim's game was good, 570a42141b
