In the main Website.master, I have added this line: Why does the language switch between C# and then German even though German is checked by Windows? How can I disable the language-change? If I add Application Locale="en" (or some other culture) in the tag, then it works as expected, but I don't want to use that because I don't want to only support English. Any suggestions? A: Ok. I have opened the question on as a non-trolling question. It was closed as not a real question, but I ask here anyway, because I thought it was somewhat related to Visual Studio.
