It is a common condition that a driver operating a vehicle will temporarily lose his awareness of an object located in a blind spot at the side of the vehicle. This is particularly true in the case of large vehicles such as trucks. The lack of awareness results in the driver being unable to anticipate any movement of the object in the blind spot. Often the driver loses sight of the object. Once the driver does regain sight of the object, he must then turn the vehicle and reacquire the object. Alternatively, if the driver remains unaware, the object may be struck by the vehicle and destroyed. World AIDS Day 2018 is a yearly reminder of how far we have come. As the crisis continues to worsen, a group of transgender activists are hoping that the 30th anniversary of the epidemic will bring about some changes. According to estimates, around 40,000 transgender people are living with HIV. While awareness of HIV has greatly improved, there is still stigma around the condition. Last year's annual World AIDS Day event was held in Mexico City where activists gave out free condoms with messages of support. This year's event is on the theme "Together We Are Stronger." It has been organized by a new group, the International Foundation of AIDS Research, who is encouraging celebrities to speak out against violence and discrimination. In the UK, a new campaign has been created by transgender activist Imogen Bewen. Campaigners hope to use the theme of "Together We Are Stronger" as a call to action. Imogen Bewen says: "This World AIDS Day campaign with the theme of Together We Are Stronger is about bringing people together – and survivors, families and friends, government ministers, academics and health workers. "Since the epidemic started in the 1980s, we have all been trying to understand why HIV disproportionately affects the LGBT community. Today, people are living in cities across the world in conditions of poverty and marginalisation. "While much of this is due to structural oppression, HIV also thrives in the shadows, growing exponentially in the darkest places. "We also know that abuse, homelessness and mental health problems make the health-care system largely inaccessible for many people affected by HIV. "It is no coincidence that World AIDS Day, established in 1988, is celebrated every year on the birthday
