For those of you who have read my past posts you know that I am a Chicago Bears fan. There are many reasons to be a Bears fan. There are the great players, the tough yet lovable coaches, the ridiculous uniforms, the Super Bowls. But, there is one reason that makes me the most bear of all Bears fans, and that is the amazing defensive linemen named "The Monsters of the Midway." The Monsters of the Midway is a great documentary that tells the story of 6 amazing Chicago Bears defensive linemen who changed the NFL in the 1950's and 1960's. It was directed by Dan Klores and produced by Jon Beatty. Included in this magnificent 30-minute DVD are interviews with Jim Otto and Dan Hampton, the offensive lines that featured them, former Bears head coaches George Allen and Dick Butkus, and Walter Payton, the all time leader in rushing a69d392a70
