Roblox Injector is a program that injects DLL files while the ROBLOX game is running. Injection is safe and automated and can be performed without having to restart the ROBLOX game. Injection simply requires to press a button to inject the DLL file and it is done when the game is running and you have selected it from the list of programs to inject. How it works: Launch ROBLOX Injector and select your ROBLOX game from the program list. Your game is opened and the game window becomes the top window on your screen. Now, click the "Inject" button. You should see a warning saying that "This program is a tool for modifying a running game in a way that it cannot be undone." You can click "Inject" and the game is safely injected. It's safe to click "Cancel" if you wish to cancel the injection, but be aware that if you close Roblox Injector, the game will also be closed. Why is this helpful: It's easy to use and you don't need to restart the ROBLOX game. You can inject any library that is common on PC platform. All you need is ROBLOX game which is already running on your computer. Next time you need a library for ROBLOX injection, check this tool first. Disadvantages: It's not applicable to all types of games, only ROBLOX games. To start the game, you'll have to open the game and click the "Inject" button. If you close Roblox Injector before the injection is finished, the game will be closed. The injection process is silent, so you'll have no idea that it's working. It's not a standalone application, so you'll have to keep ROBLOX Injector running all the time. Visit my blog if you want to learn more about the ROBLOX Injector.
