Web Page Refresher And Monitor

What's New in the?

Web Page Refresher and Monitor is a program that can automatically refresh a web page and scan it for a particular text string. For instance, you can use it when you are eager to get ahold of a software or video game update that can become available on the developer's website at any time. The interface of the application is represented by a common window and simple-to-navigate layout. So, you can open a website and set up the lower and upper time interval along with the time unit. By inputting a text string to search for, you can make the tool pop up a message dialog or run a particular application from the computer when it finds matching or non-matching terms; the webpage refreshing task can be stopped when a match has been found. It is possible to set up multiple webpages to be refreshed at the same time, as well as to view a page's source code in HTML or Raw Text format. However, there are no other configuration options available through Web Page Refresher and Monitor, and no recent updates have been made to the tool. The program has a good response time and runs on a moderate amount of CPU and system memory. Everything worked smoothly during our tests, since the app did not hang, crash or pop up error dialogs. Thanks to its intuitive layout and overall simplicity, Web Page Refresher and Monitor can be handled even by less experienced users. Pros: Good response time, runs on moderate system resources. Cons: No other configuration options available, no recent updates. Overall: Simple and easy to use.
