A: Technical english means:"motherboard manual" is computer term where hardware components are fixed and it is not changed. It is also called "hardware profile". "hardware profile" means "hardware details", "software configuration" and "diagnosis". You should search more to understand. "Component details", "means Components and connections" and "Diagnostic". So the tutorial you are searching "motherboard manual" is wrong. The rest of the words means "Acer AX3400" + "Laptop" + "I.D. Code" or brand name and model number. Here is a link for more information: More information: You can use Google translate to understand technical english. For example you can try Google translate to translate the sentence from English to Japanese: A: There are a lot of guides / manual about Acer AX3400. I always refer to this guide, as it is very detailed: This guide will explain you the basics, and in case that something doesn't work or you have additional questions, you should ask in this guide. Effect of hypoxia-induced pulmonary hypertension on the ventricular septum response to the cardiac pumping action of acute pulmonary embolism. The acute right ventricular (RV) response to pulmonary embolism (PE) was studied in 24 open-chest, anesthetized sheep in which pulmonary arterial pressure was elevated by occlusion of a chronic stenosis of the pulmonary artery. The increase in pulmonary arterial pressure with PE resulted in an increase in RV end- d0c515b9f4
