Arnab Das from a village in East Bengal has a brilliant mind. Long before Ramdev put up yoga sets, Arnab Das could be seen doing it in a humble village in Nalhati village of undivided district Murshidabad. He learnt yoga from a teacher but he is best known for his unique style of teaching yoga. Ajmeri, a city renowned for its intricately carved marble carvings and now known for its Yoga institute. This east Bengal village is where Arnab Das lives, and he is known as a leading exponent of the ancient sport. He is a follower of the ancient sports of kabaddi and kho-kho, an activity that has been going on for centuries. Kabaddi or Kabaddi is a sport in which two or more teams or players try to restrain each other by throwing each other out of the circle. The highest level of Kabbadi is played at international level and is played at the Commonwealth Games. Kho-Kho is an ancient sport, which is believed to have originated around 2500 years ago and has been practised in India for centuries. It is played
