Pocket DVD Wizard is an application that can help you transfer DVD content and video files to your portable devices, such as your Pocket PC, Portable Media Center and Windows CE, by converting the files into a format that can be read by them. The user interface is clean, and appeals even to less experienced users. The application provides two different options for helping you convert files into a format that is accepted by handheld devices, namely a DVD converter and a video converter. Obviously, for the first option, you should insert a DVD into your PC's drive and then continue with the conversion process. Unfortunately, you cannot drag and drop the video file into the main window, so have to use the browse button. It supports the following file formats: AVI, MPG, MPEG, MP4, MOV, WMV and VOB. Once you have added the video file to the queue, you can select the device you want to prepare it for from a comprehensive list (Apple iPhone, iPod Touch, iPad, Blackberry Storm, and many others). It also includes a video preview feature, and offers users the possibility to change the output destination. Pocket DVD Wizard offers time estimation for completing the job, and at the end of the conversion process you can make the program play the video or shut down the computer. You may retain the original format for the video output or go for the pan and scan mode that manages to remove the black bars from your videos. Furthermore, it is possible to specify the target output size and conversion quality (low, medium or high). Of course, if you opt for a high conversion quality, the process may take more time, but you will obtain a smooth rendering of the objects. In conclusion, Pocket DVD Wizard proves to be pretty handy if you need to convert DVD content and video files to a file format that can be played on handheld devices. In May of 2004, GearBest launched as a way for people to build their dream computers. Our focus back then was selling only motherboards and RAM, but as time went on it became apparent that a more complete product line was needed. We began using other parts such as CPUs, HDD, GPU, storage drives, power supplies, etc. Eventually we added a full product line of computer cases, power supplies, and other products as well. Since that time, we have continued to grow as an online retailer. However, some of you may be asking yourself what the hell we are doing in 2008 offering less than we had in 2004? The answer is simple, we've actually grown a whole hell of a lot and have expanded our product line to include just about every computer related product you can think of. Other products such as computer peripherals, PC accessories, and consumer electronics have also begun to grow in popularity. again? We are here to help you with that. Want to be able to come in, buy the parts you need, and leave again, without any hassle? We do that too. So what are you waiting for? Come shop with us and see what we have to offer. We are sure that you will find something for yourself and your beloved PC in our product line.
