Whether you're completely straight, have a stronger attraction to one gender than another, or just really, really dig both (girl, I'm looking at you), something must be found to satisfy your cravings. That's what we'll be talking about this week, with our essential guides for the Straight, LGBTQ+ Curious and Bi friends. What is affection? I have been thinking a lot about affection and what it means to me. As a result, this is the perfect week to dive into this issue. Being affectionate is something that I want to experience. I think that is something to aspire to in our lives. What do you think it means? Why do you think many straight women have an attraction to same-gender women? While some women may find comfort in the company of women, this study shows that women who are straight are drawn to women, not men. It seems that straight men are more comfortable with the company of other men; however, this does not mean that they find men more attractive. In fact, studies show that straight men are turned off to the idea of a sexual relationship with a woman. They find women to be more attractive. Why do you think the LGBTQ+ community is more susceptible to heart disease? The United States is first in terms of documented heart disease. The lifetime risk of heart disease among men and women of color is higher than Caucasians for men and women, respectively. According to a study published in the Journal of Circulation, "Black and Hispanic people are more likely to smoke cigarettes and be physically inactive." African-Americans and Latinos have less access to healthcare. Additionally, more may drink alcohol, which is associated with heart disease. Gay men and bisexual men are more prone to having heart disease than other groups. What advice can you give to straight people who are not feeling comfortable
