Q: Pascal keyword not working as expected In Pascal, is the keyword "new" equal to "new()"? In my implementation of the Pascal language I am creating a class to handle variables like: obj1.obj2.obj3.obj4 = 10; But I need to assign a string to the variable obj4. So what I did was: type obj4 = class(TObject) public F_string : string; end; obj4.F_string := 'abcdef'; So every time I try to use: o1.o2.o3.o4.F_string I get the error: [Line:...] Symbol "o4" could not be resolved [Line:...] But if I use: o1.o2.o3.o4 := o4 works fine. Why is that so? A: Typeclasses are implemented as objects. You need to declare your type as an object also: type obj4 = class F_string : string; end; Also, you need to consider the difference between classes and objects. obj4 is type-object that holds a F_string, not an object of type obj4.
