“This is the best FIFA in 25 years,” said Oliver Bierhoff, Executive Vice President of Soccer Operations at Electronic Arts. “It’s easier to control and play, and richer in terms of emotion, visualization, and realism. We’re excited for the more than half a million fans across the world to play it.” FIFA 22 was developed in cooperation with German football association, the DFB, and Spanish football association, RFEF. Features: HyperMotion Technology Emotional Intelligence Players are more expressive and play much more like real humans Play deeper and more intuitively as players get out of position with ease Visuals are more painterly and lifelike, with the game delivering more realistic and lifelike player and environment visuals. You will see higher-resolution, more detailed models, props and surfaces on the pitch, and real-world player facial animations that will convey emotion throughout the match. The pitch has three layers: Underneath the playable surface, players will see some visual effects related to their off-ball movement and ball contact. Just above the playable surface lies the playable surface itself, where players will see further effects related to off-ball movement and ball contact. The third layer is the grass above the playable surface, in which players will see visual effects related to movement around the ball, and related to the collision of players with the grass. Deeper Tactical Intelligence Unprecedented AI usage across multiple positions and roles. The AI will be able to use the ball more intelligently, meaning they will make use of the ball more intelligently, and adjust their game plan more intelligently. The AI will play better players than in any FIFA game before. In addition, the AI will use the ball better to create space for the player, as well as using the player more intelligently to create space for the player. Advanced AI The AI will use the tools at their disposal more intelligently in order to create match-defining moments and situations that will turn the match on its head. The AI will be able to read the game and play accordingly. For example, if the AI thinks you are going to a crossing situation, the AI will approach the situation with an understanding of
