Software inventory, reporting, configuration, storage management and .Q: How to make an SKSpriteNode follow an SKShapeNode and not fade out? I am trying to make a torpedo that stays in a position in the center of the screen and slowly moves with the camera as the player moves. The problem is, when the torpedo is created the sprite fades out to black. Here is the way I have it written:

```
-(void)addTorpedoToSkeleton{ SKSpriteNode *torpedo = [SKSpriteNode spriteNodeWithImageNamed:@"torpedo.png"]; torpedo.position = CGPointMake(self.size.width * 0.5, self.size.height * 0.5); torpedo.physicsBody = [SKPhysicsBody bodyWithRectangleOfSize:torpedo.size]; SKNode *nodeTorpedo = [self childNodeWithName:@"nodeTorpedo"]; SKPhysicsBody *torpedoBody = [[SKPhysicsBody alloc] initWithEdgeChainFromNode:nodeTorpedo]; torpedo.physicsBody = torpedoBody; SKShapeNode *torpedoNode = [SKShapeNode node]; torpedoNode.position = CGPointMake(CGPointMake(nodeTorpedo.position.x, self.size.height * 0.5)); torpedoNode.name = @"torpedoNode"; torpedoNode.path = [UIBezierPath bezierPathWithRoundedRect:torpedoNode.bounds cornerRadius:torpedoNode.layer.cornerRadius]; torpedoNode.strokeColor = [UIColor blackColor]; torpedoNode.physicsBody = [SKPhysicsBody bodyWithPolygonFromPath:torpedoNode.path]; [nodeTorpedo addChild:torpedoNode]; [self addChild:torpedo]; }
```

 How do I get this to not fade away? A: Try replacing the last line of code with the following:

```
[nodeTorpedo addChild:torpedoNode];
```
