Stunning New Zealand Seafood Menu By Olive Doggett One of the greatest things about living in a place so far from the world-famous South Pacific is that its cuisine is just as notable. That's what makes the New Zealand Seafood Menu so special, with the Great Barrier Reef being only one of 600km away. But more importantly, it's the taste that is the most impressive! We headed to Hunter River District in Victoria Park to have a look at their seafood restaurant menu, and let me tell you the list is absolutely mouth-watering! It is a selection of nearly 40 seafood dishes in total and that's one heck of a lot of seafood! But wait, you're probably asking yourself "What seafood?" New Zealand Seafood Menu Some of you may have seen a TV ad that was recently done in New Zealand where a couple got their dream trip away from the work world and went on a boat to taste some of the great seafood that their country has to offer. Well, you won't need to travel to New Zealand to enjoy the seafood that they have to offer here at the Hunter River District.

1. Beautiful Horner Fish This was one of the most impressive items we were presented with as it looked both fresh and tasty. Horner fish isn't your typical fish and is often reserved for chefs to try new things. Horner fish is usually caught from South Australia as they have the warmest water and are an excellent way to get your seafood fix! 2. Dipping Sauce

Get ready to see a lot of dipping sauce! These sauces are absolutely delectable and go perfectly with the fish that is prepared
