Hundreds of thousands of children are being deprived of basic healthcare in the UK because of cuts in spending, an official report has found. The NHS is failing to provide essential services such as specialist beds, medical equipment, drugs and instruments because it has been forced to cut spending on these services, the think tank the Institute for Health Innovation has warned. The think tank says it has a “frightening picture of a health system that is driven by cuts to services rather than an increased focus on improving care.” The study, commissioned by the Labour party and released to mark the NHS’ 70th anniversary, says frontline health workers have been forced to work “unchallenged” to boost hospital finances by carrying out non-urgent procedures, sometimes for the wrong patients. The report, which follows a two-day NHS conference in Liverpool, warns hospitals are not conducting enough routine surgery and is warning the NHS could be forced to reduce or postpone operations in order to protect spending. The think tank estimates that about 80,000 children are not being treated for a condition that could be resolved by providing basic primary care or they are waiting too long for diagnosis or treatment. They say about 350,000 babies were born during the last financial year who needed to see a sight or hearing specialist but did not receive the care. The think tank has called for the government to reverse the £22bn of cuts to the NHS since 2010 and to allocate 5% of its budget to the improvement of primary and community care. Paul Adams, director of the institute for health innovation, said: “This is a frightening picture of a health system driven by austerity rather than an increased focus on improving care. “The NHS is being driven to prioritise its

FIFA is the world's #1 videogame franchise. A massively popular and successful franchise, FIFA has been consistently setting the pace for innovation and excellence over the past 18 years. "Powered by Football" allows our game developers to leverage their expertise with the gameplay engine to push the boundaries of the franchise for the first time ever. Powered by Football - Your FIFA Career FIFA matches take place in a "Football Universe" where everything from the action on the pitch to the away team's cheers on the bench is authentic. Packed with key information and stats, the Football Universe will allow fans to understand and enjoy the game more than ever before. Modernized gameplay: FIFA 20 looked great on the pitch, but it could be hard to follow along with complex playmaking and formations. We've taken the same engine and given it the power to react in the real world, so players can react to the unexpected and even predict their opponent's next move. The new Real Player Motion Engine: Our most powerful engine yet, completely rebuilt from the ground up, delivers fast-paced, tactical ball and player movements that feel the same as in the real game. New, over-the-top animations, improved ball physics, and added context with the physics-based rebound system truly bring FIFA 20's visuals to life on a whole new level. Razor GK: The new GK system is designed for faster, more accurate, and smarter handling of your goalkeeper. Learn how to take advantage of each goalkeeper system as you'll be challenged by the Premier League's best in FUT and the greats from around the world in the Pro Clubs mode. The CAM System: A new 3D system is applied to the strategic positioning of players in midfield, allowing you to more easily place your strikers and other key players in the right spots. AI: The new AI is more refined and intelligent than ever, making match-winning plays and keeping their defense tight. Mental Engagement: The new "Mental Engagement" introduces a new system where you can give your players and the opposition full control of a match when you're in an alternative coach mode. Brand New Player Editor: Create your own players from scratch with the new player editor. New 3D Virtual Pro modes
