This is a tutorial for graphic designers, web designers and photographers looking for a free alternative to Photoshop. Finding inspiration for websites, graphic designs or social media can be a tedious process. You may browse thousands of websites for inspiration, browse portfolios of photographers you like, use Pinterest or Instagram. After a while, you will get tired of the process and will get fed up of searching for ideas. This tutorial shows you how you can take your inspirations from the web and mix them with a specific color pallet to make them work for you. What's New in the Photoshop 2021 (Version 22.3)?

Q: Creating a popup widget in python I was wondering if anyone had an idea on how to create a widget that is implemented as a popup on the application interface. I don't know if you need to give it a special class or just use whatever is available through python I'm looking to make it like the browser plugins that are used for saving bookmarks, etc. Thanks A: You can use tkinter to make a modal dialog window. If you want to ask for a URL from the user, you could use Tkinter's askopenfilename() function. Here's an example from the TkDocs: `import Tkinter from Tkinter import * def get_url(): print "Enter a URL: " URL = askopenfilename() return URL root = Tk() Label(root, text="Enter a URL: ", bg="light blue", fg="white", justify="left", width=15, bd=2, padx=20, pady=10, font=("arial", 12)).grid(row=0, column=0) if get_url(): Label(root, text=":", fg="green", bg="light blue", bd=2, pady=10).pack() Label(root, text="", fg="white", bg="light blue", bd=2, padx=20, pady=10).grid(row=1, column=0) Label(root, text="", fg="white", bg="light blue", bd=2, padx=20, pady=10).grid(row=1, column=1) Label(root, text="", fg="white", bg="light blue", bd=2, padx=20, pady=10).grid(row=1, column=2) Label(root, text="", fg="white", bg="light blue", bd=2, padx=20, pady=10).grid(row=1,`
