Laminins are extracellular matrix glycoproteins that have been implicated in many diverse biological processes. Laminins are heterotrimers formed from one alpha, one beta and one gamma chains. Laminins have well-described roles in normal epithelia and in neoplasms; however, there is little information regarding laminins in salivary glands. Using SAGE data and knowledge about laminin-binding sites (LBS), we have identified putative novel binding sites for laminin-1 and -2. We demonstrate the presence of both laminin-1 and -2 in rat submandibular glands. RT-PCR analysis reveals that laminin-1 and -2 are expressed in the normal human submandibular gland, whereas laminin-3 expression was not detected. We have used recombinant fragments of laminin-1 and -2 to isolate monoclonal antibodies (mAb) specific for both molecules. mAb, 10B5, and 3C4 were generated. In vitro studies showed that 10B5 and 3C4 mAb bind to salivary glands, and the mAb inhibit laminin-1- and -2-mediated migration of MDCK cells and human salivary gland cells (HuSGs) in Transwell. To confirm expression of these laminin-binding sites in submandibular gland cells, we have generated a new mAb specific for the laminin-1/2 LBS. mAb8A3 recognizes salivary glands and inhibits laminin-1- and -2-mediated HuSGs migration in Transwell. In summary, we have identified LBSs for laminin-1 and -2 within the alpha1 chain, the beta- and gamma-chain, and the LBSs occur on normal HuSGs and MDCK cells. mAb8A3 was generated to the laminin LBS of the alpha1 chain, and this mAb inhibits laminin-1- and -2-

Logitech Harmony Remote Software is a tool that helps you to connect your Harmony remote to your computer. You can manage the remote easily and it is compatible with all of the Harmony remotes that you have. Most of the functions of Harmony Remote Software are either free or have a small cost attached to them. If you are using the older version of the software, you need to upgrade for the updated version of the software. The software is a total waste of time and effort. This software is a piece of garbage. It doesn't work right and won't even connect to a Harmony 900. It's a pain to be putting up with, but no matter how hard you try you can't fix something that doesn't even work. Logitech should have released some other software that actually worked. Having to turn off the computer, Logitech then turning on the computer once again, knowing that the computer takes very long to start up because of the third party software it's installed. "Ok. Fine. I'll be back later when the computer has loaded." I returned to the computer and tried to load the software again. Same problem. "Oh well, nothing to do but wait now." So I waited for the computer to load. The Logitech software is ultimately a waste of time and effort. The hardest thing was trying to get it to work at all. We're all aware of the importance of preventing viruses, but when we install something, it's because we actually want to use it, not because some virus is getting ready to attack us. However, the Logitech software never succeeded in getting past the first step of starting the program. So I gave up. Then I tried to run it on my Mac. It didn't work on my Mac either. You would think that since they're both made by the same company that they would have the software compatible between both. Clearly they don't. The software has a lot of bugs. There are many problems with the software. The biggest problem is that the software was clearly incomplete or rushed. I don't know who was responsible for the software at Logitech, but they should have finished it and fixed all the problems. The program is so bug-ridden that I'd have to agree with those who said that the software should have been written by an experienced team rather than a b7e8fdf5c8
