LISTSP is a friendly and fully functional replacement for the standard Windows Task Manager. An intuitive interface lets you search, launch and terminate process and system tray applications, refresh a list or quickly modify the process priority. Get to know your system better with the multitude of statistics for applications, including CPU usage, memory usage and more. Everything is searchable, so it's easy to locate and remove services and processes. Show drivers, programs and services that might be causing system slowdowns, or find out more about them using the search capabilities of LISTSP. Have you found an inconsistency when killing a process or service with Task Manager? LISTSP's deletion option lets you mark a process so you can easily locate it later if something goes wrong. For long term use, the setting to refresh the statistics once every hour at a click of the mouse is especially useful. Additional online actions can be performed by tapping in a hyperlink of your choice. You can choose to set the "LISTSP application affinity" for your new task or terminate all tasks that are currently open.

The Panamax and soon-to-be Panamax mega tankers are rapidly growing in size, and a retrospective look at the data shows that the fleet is now getting larger and larger, and that likely means there is more and more crude on board. Early in 2014, one of the first Panamax vessels left on its maiden voyage, the most recent one to do so was the Eldorado, which was delivered in April 2012. Since then, another 20 vessels have been delivered to the fleet - a number set to grow to around 45 by 2020. The Eldorado was delivered when the market was at the peak of over US$100 a barrel, and it was carrying a cargo of around 2.05 million barrels, compared to the 910,000 barrels of Police are investigating the death of a man who was shot and killed while crossing a picket line at a Mahoning County road construction site this afternoon, officials say. Police said Joseph Nacamuli, 29, was shot at about 4 p.m. at a road construction site on state Route 146 near Oakdale in the township of Coal Township. Nacamuli was heading east on Route 146, at a time when the road was closed to vehicles, when he went in between two parked vehicles that were using the road, according to police. A construction worker was inside one of the vehicles, police said. A second worker, who was standing nearby, had his back to the first worker, and he was not carrying a weapon, according to police. Two men were standing on the other side of Route 146 when they saw a man, later identified as Nacamuli, crouching in the middle of the highway, police said. One of the men, James Murray, told police that he and his friend, Richard Kramer, were surprised and startled when they saw Nacamuli, who was wearing a sweater and his pants tucked into his shoes, in the middle of the roadway. Kramer shouted at Nacamuli to get out of the road, but Nacamuli was crouched down at the time and did not respond, according to police. Kramer began running toward Nacamuli
