Fresco The online version of the Flash Player (`www.adobe.com/products/flashplayer`) allows web designers to create interactive images. With Fresco, you can create interactive virtual landscapes, animation, and even games. Fresco also offers a clean, polished, and professional look for your sites. ## Cropping Images Creating a layered image that has a rectangular frame, and then placing an image inside the frame is called _cropping an image._ Cropping is often useful for displaying a portion of an image in a web page and then allowing the user to zoom in on that part of the image, making the rest of the image appear tiny. This technique is discussed in greater detail in Chapter 6. You may have noticed that images you add to your HTML web page are clickable and may open another image when you click on them. When you add a new image from the web, it's usually automatically enlarged in the image editor. To avoid such enlargements, you can crop the image at the time of insertion into the web page. Even if you're adding an image from a different site, you may want to crop the image for a number of reasons, including turning a portrait image into a landscape image, cropping out distracting items, and organizing the image before adding it to the page. The following sections explain how to crop an image in both Photoshop and the GIMP.

Q: Efficient alternative for calculating correlation between two arrays (Ruby/R) Is there a quick way to calculate correlation between two arrays (Ruby/R)? Here is the code I am currently using: require 'RMagick' r = RMagick::ImageList.new("test.png") a = r.read_ppm(0.12) b = r.read_ppm(0.12) c = 0.0 # iterate over the arrays, doing sum (for each element in array-a) of correlation of array-b for i in 0..a.length-1 sum = 0 for j in 0..b.length-1 sum += (a[i] - c) * (b[j] - c) c = sum end end r.puts c A: It was a little difficult to understand your question, so I'll try to rephrase it a little. What is the complexity of your function call? is the correlation defined for two arrays, or for two columns of a matrix? and is your code written to calculate a single correlation, or multiple ones? If the first two questions are answered, this answer will make sense. For the last question, see this post. A: You can just use R's Cross-correlation if you have R installed on your computer. function test { cross_correlation(a, b, window_size=2) return c } cross_correlation(a, b) EDIT As noted in the comments, RMagick is no longer recommended. Ultrastructural aspects of the effects of capsaicin on the rat intestinal epithelium. The direct action of capsaicin on the rat intestinal epithelium was studied using electron microscopy. The treatment of the animals with capsaicin induced, within 10 days, degeneration of the enterocytes in the proximal half of the small intestine as well as in the duodenum. In the villi, a detachment of the microvilli from the luminal membrane and microvillous rarefaction were detected. In the crypts,

Siesta 1 Rechargeable 120,000 mAh Rechargeable Battery, 3.7Ah UBS deep cycle, Compatible with 1-4 watch straps Standard watch straps are for use with the Siesta 1 only. The bulk of the original watch strap's bridge is wider than the band, making it difficult to get the watch strap through and off without stretching and tearing the watch strap. The Bulkhead watch strap is designed to fit over the Siesta 1's band, making it easier to pull it off without damaging the watch strap. The bridge of the strap is narrower than the band of the Siesta 1, making it easier to get the strap through the watch face. The band doesn't need any adjustment for the Siesta 1, but the strap does need to be installed properly. Once the Siesta 1 is inserted into the band, the watch strap should fit more easily. The back of the watch strap is stitched together to prevent fraying, this helps make the watch strap more durable. The Siesta 1 may be compatible with most regular watches, but the watch strap may need to be specially made. Some watch companies have tight seals and therefore make special watch straps. If the watch strap does not fit correctly, simply call us at (800) 379-0995.The present invention relates generally to an ink-jet printhead ejecting ink onto recording paper by a pressure pulse, and more particularly to a method and apparatus for forming ink supply ports for supplying the ink to nozzle chambers in a printhead. The invention is suited for use in an ink-jet printhead of a type including a plurality of ink chambers each having a nozzle chamber and being located corresponding to a plurality of nozzles. In an ink-jet printhead, a number of small droplets of ink are ejected from a nozzle chamber and deposited on a print medium to print characters or images. One type of such printhead employs thermal energy to generate ink droplets. In another type, ink droplets are ejected from each nozzle by pressure produced by a pressure pulse, such as a piezoelectric transducer. A printhead that includes a number of nozzle chambers formed by a plurality of nozzles is referred to as a piezoelectric printhead, and an ink-jet printer employing such printhead is referred to as a piezoelectric ink-jet printer. In a piezoelectric printhead
